

Path of the Black Widow

I watch her kneel in submission at the Master's feet.
I cringe as the whip strikes again and again
and she moans and writhes in ecstasy...the way he likes.
Daddy or Master...does it matter?

I watch as he lifts her,
surges in and out of her frail little body,
impales her...fore and aft.
A toy...a plaything...his property.

I watch as he gives her away to his friends.
She screams like a rabbit...they laugh.
We scream silently as they beat, rape, sodomize and torture her.
Rabbit is born.

Here Pussy, Pussy!
Into the cage and onto the stage.
Onto the stage with the cameras, needles, razors, and whips.
Burning candles leaving fiery trails of wax as they drip on her silky skin.
We scream silently in pain for us as she writhes in ecstasy for them...
The Masters.

Why can't I die? I am already dead.
A Zombie risen from the grave,
Brazenly prancing on the stage,
Night upon night, follows day after day,
Audiences full of men applauding and catcalling,
Privileges and Gold won for the Master.
Won for Daddy.
Please, God, let me die.

The kiss of the whip is an old friend,
The sting of the leather strap,
The agony of the cane ... life can never be the same.
Princess turned kajira...as the carousel spins.

Warped to please the Masters,
Everything turned backwards.
Pleasure is pain...Pain is pleasure.
The spider is placed in the platinum web.

The Coterie[■]

Author: Ophelia.

Donated November 17, 2003

- “The Coterie is the name of our system. A coterie is the term used for an orphanage in some cultures. We consider ourselves orphans if for no other reason than the fact that any "parent" who would condone this type, or any type, of abuse of their child doesn't deserve the honor of being called or considered a parent."
- Coterie—select circle in society, persons associated by exclusive interest—i.e., RAT co-culture (The Reader's Digest Great Encyclopaedic Dictionary (Vol. 1). London: The Reader's Digest.)